Republican National Convention, 1876.

The next Union Republican National Convention for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States will be held in the CITY OF CINCINNATI, on WEDNESDAY THE FOUR[TEENTH] DAY OF JUNE, 1876, at 12 o'clock noon, consist of delegates from each State equal to the number of its Senators and Representatives in Congress, and of two delegates from each Territory and the District of Columbia.

In calling [this] Convention for the election of delegates by the several States and Territories, it is expected that all Republican electors and citizens, without regard to past political differences, who are opposed to the corrupt and demoralizing tendencies and practices which have prevailed in the administration of the National Government, and who desire to promote reform throughout the entire service of the country, by uniting all the honest elements of party citizenship in the support of honest men and the exercise of the right of suffrage, free from fraud and violence, and by the free discussion and without proscription of the opinions of all citizens, will be entitled to participate in the selection of delegates to the Convention, and in the nomination and support of candidates for the offices to be filled by the Convention.

The Republican electors of the several States are recommended to meet in their respective places of voting, at the usual hour of holding elections, on TUESDAY, the SEVENTH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1876, and choose the number of electors of President and Vice-President to which each State may be entitled in the Electoral College.

The Republican electors of the several States are also recommended to meet in their respective State Capitals, each one day before the day appointed by the Congress of the United States for the meeting of the Electoral College, and organize by the appointment of a President of the Electors, and such other officers as they may think proper

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Legislature in Session—Pushing work in the House—Rights of Married Women—An election dodge tabled—About Moose—Surveying and Overhauling rates—The School mill tax—The Sheriff Law referred to the Temperance Committee, Etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE WHIG AND COURIER.]

AUGUSTA, Feb 5 The doings of the Legislature to-day were confined to the House, the Senate not being in session A large amount of matters were disposed of, the most important of which will be found below Since the commencement of the session the members of the House have suffered with the cold, and to-day, at the instance of Gen Anderson, steps were taken to have the Superintendent of Public Buildings reopen the fireplaces in the Representatives' Hall and have open wood fires, as well as to have the hall properly ventilated every day before the session commences The business of the session will be hurried next week, and final adjournment will probably be reached on the 17th inst. or thereabouts

Various Matters

Adverse legislation was reported on propositions requiring the expense of keeping in repair bridges on the county roads in the several counties costing $400, and over to be paid by the several counties, the Calais Court bill Bill to prevent the reckless use of firearms, and bill relating to towns which have abolished school districts

Charters were reported to incorporate the Deer Isle and Sedgwick Horse Ferry Co and West Buxton Steamboat Company

Rights of Married Women

The House gave a passage to the bill relating to the rights of married women by providing that they may prosecute suits at law either of tort or contract in their own name without the joinder of the husband for the preservation and protection of their property and personal rights and injuries, and the husband is not allowed to settle or discharge any such action, without the written consent of the wife.

A Suspicious Measure Tabled

The House tabled the bill relating to amending the election law, pending its third reading at the instance of Mr Cutler of Portland The bill provides that in cities containing over one thousand voters when the list of voters is being made up the Aldermen shall record as sufficient evidence in making up the list additions of voters whose names are not recorded Sessions for the correction of such lists to be held five days preceding election

Protection of Moose

A bill was reported to amend the law relating to the protection of moose, so that it shall not apply to the hides of that animal imported for manufacture.

Fees of Lumber Surveyors

A bill was reported establishing the following rates for the surveyors of lumber in Penobscot county For all lumber surveyed and overhauled without placing the interval mark on each piece, 28 cents per thousand feet board measure, and if the interval mark is placed on each piece at the request of the buyer or seller, an additional fee of seven cents per M Whenever such survey or marking is done by a deputy of the Surveyor General, he shall pay him one cent per M All lumber is to be overhauled under the direction of the Surveyor General, and the deputies shall pay for the overhauling out of the fees provided for surveying or overhauling

Assignment of Wages

A bill was reported providing that no assignment of wages shall be valid unless the same is recorded The fee for record may be 25 cents

Delinquent Tax Payers

A bill was reported authorizing cities and towns to charge interest on unpaid taxes, not exceeding 1 per cent, per month

Settlement of Paupers.

The House passed a bill providing that no person shall acquire a settlement sufficient to bring him upon the town for his support on account of poverty or distress, by reason of his residing in a town as tender of a drawbridge or toll-keeper of a bridge owned by another town.

General Railroad Law.

Hobson of Wiscasset gave notice that when the general railroad law was again taken up he should offer an amendment to the effect that all questions relating to land damages, should be settled in the same manner as now provided by law

School Mill Tax

The Justices of the Supreme Court will meet in Bangor on Tuesday, when they will consider the order passed by the House, asking for their opinion on the constitutionality of the school mill tax.

Dedication of a Chapel.

The new chapel building connected with the Insane Hospital will be dedicated with appropriate exercises on Thursday next. Gov Connor and other State officials will be present There will be no formal address.

Sheriff Enforcement Law.

The House receded and concurred with the Senate in referring the bill for the repeal of the Sheriff Enforcement law to the Temperance committee

FROM ROCKLAND.

A Suspicious Character.

[TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROCKLAND, Feb 5 A tramp, giving his name as John Ryan, applied for lodgings at the police station last night His description answers as nearly as possible to that of a person wanted for the murder of Moses B. Dickerson at Amherst, Mass., on November 23d. Ryan says he was born in Lower Canada, is 22 years old, and has lived in Waltham, Mass., since childhood, working on the canal between Albany and Buffalo, summers, and at home winters He says he was in Boston at the time of the Amherst murder. A photograph will be taken and sent to the Amherst authorities to-morrow, and Ryan will be detained till an answer is received.

THE MAINE TEACHERS.

Completion of the Organization and Election of Officers.

LEWISTON, Feb. 5. The Maine Teachers' Association completed its organization and elected the following officers: Dr. J. H Hanson of Waterville, President; Miss M. J. Ham of Lewiston, Vice President, F. E. C. Robbins of Skowhegan, Secretary; A. L. Chase of Portland, Treasurer; the President and Secretary ex officio, Prof. A. H. D. Davis of Brunswick, Miss M. A. Billings of Auburn, Miss M. H. Smith of Bath, Executive Council.

FROM BRUNSWICK.

Shocking Death—A Little Boy's Head Cut off by a Passing Train.

BRUNSWICK, Feb. 5 Eddie White, 8 years of age, son of Prof. C. A. White, while sliding down hill and across the railroad track this afternoon, was struck by a train and his head was severed from his body A signal was displayed at the time to give warning of coming trains, but the child probably did not notice it or else did not understand its meaning. A coroner's inquest was held to-night and rendered a verdict that the accident was caused by his own thoughtlessness, and that no blame could be attached to the railroad company, or any of its employes The case is a particularly sad one, as the little boy was a very sprightly and favorite child His father, formerly a professor in Bowdoin College, is now with Major Powell's exploring expedition, probably in the Canons of Colorado

FROM BIDDEFORD

House Burned—Severe Accident—The Gas Waste and Saco River.

BIDDEFORD, Feb 5 The house of Hiram Wormwell, in Saco, was burned last night The family barely escaped with their lives John Rand lost a portion of one hand to-day by a circular saw Barly next week the Committee on Commerce in Legislature will hear the petitioners who will ask to have the York Manufacturing Company prohibited from turning gas waste into the Saco river It is a matter of great importance to fishermen and lumbermen and a sanitary point of view every citizen is interested Mayor Warren has engaged Hon John M Goodwin to appear before the Committee and argue the matter in behalf of the city.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

PANIC IN A THEATRE.

Eleven Persons Killed.

A Large Number Seriously Injured

The Panic Caused by an Alarm of Fire

CINCINNATI, Feb 5 During the performance of an Allegory of the Great Republic at Robinson's Opera House this afternoon, a stampede was caused by an alarm of fire by a boy in the gallery Two women and two children were killed outright and a number seriously if not fatally injured Nearly six hundred school children took part in the allegory, and the audience was composed mostly of their relatives There are many conflicting stories as to

The Origin of the Panic.

The building was filled from the pavement to the gallery, and hundreds were outside struggling to gain admission Behind the scenes were 600 school children who were to take part in the performance As the time approached for the commencement of the exercises, a kaleidoscopic light in the gallery flashed its glare upon the house below, and immediately a cry of fire was raised

A Terrible Scene—Eleven Persons Killed

The audience became panic-stricken and a rush was made for the stairways In the panic women and children were overthrown and trampled to death by the panic-stricken crowd The scene beggared description Up to 9 o'clock it is reported 11 killed and 8 injured Later information will probably increase the number of injured

MASSACHUSETTS

The Second Trial of Piper on the Charge of Murdering Mabel Young.

BOSTON, Feb 5. The Government closed to-day in the second trial of H W. Piper, the sexton accused of murdering Mabel H. Young, in the belfry of Warren Avenue church. The opening for the defence was made this afternoon It is the general opinion that the Government has made a much stronger case than before, and have established beyond a doubt that Mabel Young was murdered and her death could not have been the result of an accident.

NEW YORK CITY

A Heavy Verdict.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 Mrs. Virginia Burke has obtained a verdict of $60 000 in a suit against the widow of Ira C Gardiner and others of the family. Mrs. Burke's father died in the Gardiners' boarding house while known to be in possession of a large amount of bonds and other valuables of which after his death only a few thousand dollars could be found which the Gardiners claimed were theirs by gift of the dying man Later other bonds known to belong to the dead man were traced from the maker to the Gardiners' possession. The latter family had in the meantime sprung from poverty to comparative wealth The verdict was received with applause.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN

The Wreck of the Deutschland.

LONDON, Feb. 5 The official investigation of the loss of the Deutschland has concluded The report says the wreck was owing to an error of reckoning and to the captain's disregard of the force and direction of the tide The report praises the discipline maintained aboard the steamer, and the conduct of the officers The boatsmen at Harwich and elsewhere are completely exonerated from the charges of cowardice in flagging, not rendering prompt assistance etc. The report also recommends that telegraph communication be established between the lightship and the shore

GERMANY

Prince Bismarck and the Church

LONDON, Feb 5 The Pall Mall Gazette's Berlin special contains the following Prince Bismarck has sufficiently recovered to drive in the Thiergarten in a close carriage His parliamentary advisers will now be returned When questioned about Cardinal Hohenlohe's visit to Rome by some deputies who called upon him the Chancellor distinctly stated that it was not, might be, the Cardinal's mission, or whether there be any mission at all it is not authorized by him He declared that so long as he remains at the helm he will not make visits which will make the first step towards reconciliation with the Church

TURKEY.

The Trouble with Montenegro and Servia—The Reforms proposed by Andrassy's Note

LONDON, Feb 5 The Times says Andrassy's note is evidently intended to convey the impression that the Powers have a policy and have not yet arrived at nothing The reforms may be limited in scope, but will be pursued even at the risk of a departure from the traditions which have hitherto obtained in dealing with Turkey

The note exemplifies the efforts of the Powers to lessen the dangers of the insurrection by restraining Servia and Montenegro, and on the moderation of the Powers with reference to the Consular commission at Mostar hangs The delegates were instructed to discourage the insurgents with hopes of outside aid and report them to disperse after stating their grievances The Powers then only reserved the right to urge on the Porte the demands which appeared right and the publicist restricted themselves to counseling the Porte as to the use of moral as well as military means

The note continues Andrassy's hopes of the Powers were deceived On one side the reforms published by the Porte do not seem to have had in view the pacification of the insurgents, nor do they appear to be sufficient for that purpose On the other side the Turkish armies have failed to put down the insurrection The reforms promulgated by the Porte had no specific relation to the grievances of the insurgents

The note then proceeds to indicate the necessary reforms which have already been reported and concludes as follows The Porte's previous unfulfilled promises can only raise, not satisfy the aspirations of Turkey He has failed to certify to the insurrection which Spring will renew

The conviction is general among the Christians of Bulgaria and Greece will join in the insurrection in the Spring It may also be foreseen that the Servians and Montenegrin Governments will be unable to resist the influence of events, and public opinion They seem to have familiarized themselves with the idea of joining the struggle when the snow melts The three emblems therefore think the only chance of avoiding new complications is by unanimity from all the Powers establishing their first solution to arrest the movement but to address the Princes and Christian populations the Powers must be able to point to acts clearly ameliorating the condition of Herzegovinians for the Christians have a deeply rooted mistrust with regard to every promise of the Porte engendered by experience

THE GREAT SCANDAL!

H. C. Bowen's Letter

A CHARACTERISTIC DOCUMENT.

HINTS, INSINUATIONS AND SHOCKING CHARGES BUT NO FACTS GIVEN.

By the request of Mr. Henry C. Bowen the Examining Committee of Plymouth Church met Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of Rev. S. B. Halliday, at No. 68 Willow street, Brooklyn, to receive Mr. Bowen's reply to the "grievances" of S. V. White. At the appointed hour Mr Bowen's sons, Edward A. and Clarence W Bowen, representing their father, appeared before the Committee, and asked if the Committee was ready to hear their father's reply to Mr. White Dr. Edward Beecher replied We are and Mr Clarence W Bowen then read the following document

MR BOWEN'S PLEA.

To the Examining Committee of Plymouth Church —

More than two years ago the Examining Committee of Plymouth Church was told that I had been slandering its pastor, the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher; that I was probably the cause of all the trouble and unhealth that had occurred in the church, that I must be promptly looked after, my conduct carefully investigated, and, if found guilty, be condemned and cast out of the church as a wicked offender After months of most searching enquiry a report was made to the Church by the Committee that the charges against me were groundless, that so far as they could learn I had not slandered the pastor, and that in their judgment no evidence could be found for serious complaint against me The report of the Committee was presented to the church at a very crowded meeting and I was unanimously acquitted of any wrong doing in the premises All this was done, remember, before I was charged with talking to church

After these faithful and vigilant efforts to find something against me had most signally failed, it soon began to be said in the church that I was constantly talking too little, that, instead of opening wide my mouth to the great damage of Mr Beecher I was guilty of the grave offense of shutting it and saying positively nothing to anybody at first said to be wrong and now pronounced equally wrong It seemed to be quite plain that I should be condemned if I said anything and if I said nothing Church looked upon me with suspicion and I was repeatedly urged to say something in my own defence I have been advised confidentially and even boldly to speak for my own vindication Let the past go and cry "peace, peace" when there is no peace

THE INTERVIEWS WITH MR WHITE

When Mr S V White called upon me at my office on business he began to converse with me upon the Beecher scandal Deeply pained that I had charged an improper conduct and an improper motive to discussion upon a proper subject the lowest expression such a conversation could be put to I told him that I did not proceed to converse with him upon that subject I said to him decidedly that I could not converse with him upon any other subject on the topic he had presented that I had my own views and convictions to express to him, that I must be allowed to express my views to him, or in other words, to tell him, also, what I did not want to hear, and so I put a practical check upon the breaking out of the scandal in my presence by others did not want to hear because from [illegible] I could not converse with him upon the subject in question Mr White pressed me with various arguments to engage with him in conversation, but I declined to do so, and I did so with a view to prevent the scandal from breaking out in my presence by others who, I knew, were present and who, I had reason to believe, were ready to do so Mr White then left my office, and I supposed that was the end of the matter

But I was mistaken Mr White called upon me a second time, and I then told him that I could not converse with him upon the subject of Beecher scandal, that I had my own views and convictions to express to him, that I must be allowed to express my views to him, or in other words, to tell him what I did not want to hear, and so I put a practical check upon the breaking out of the scandal

NORTHERN SNOW

BY WILL WALLACE HARNEY

An exile to the pine-clad plain
I woo the fur-winged summer breeze
Through azure depths of cool repose
Above a nurturing solitude

And in the breath of bloom and fruit
As sweet as that which Eden knew
Where Love and Eve their vows did plight
For Egypt's deep, dark mouth.

All things of a chaste beauty appear
To breathe of nothing but repose
As if unheeded through the year
The vagrant seasons came and went

Yet often when I hear the rain
In fleece of vapor whisper low
Like ghosts about the window pane,
My heart would learn to see the snow

To see beyond the frozen marbs
In chalk and gray on a black and white
The river hills through atm spheres
Wind blown in marble pulses of light

The smothered roofs at rest below
The little wreaths of thin pipe smoke,
Where goddess hoods in hundreds of snow
Above them on its mother oak.

In sunset white evelines the croft
A mound of soft ire blox wood at rest
Still wrap the trees a white and soft,
In sapping curves and swooping lines

Soft flurries as a shallow blush
The page in passing light and fleet
Like sighs warm faces wrapped for a,
Like faces passing on the street

I see them in the fall's rain
Through all the years the hills but seem
Like glass shut out the silow pane
Among the mush and evergreen

The boyhood of me is the fair young vo
Who watched with eyes
With gossamer of
Stood soft shall

While eaving through the pine and hol
The hills look in no mistake hour
Whose spent sum new st
With soft, sweet unison rest of love
